

INTRO100 Introduction to Windows

Power on the computer and then properly shut it down so that it is completely off.

INTRO110 Introduction to Apple

Power on the iPad and then properly shut it down so that it is completely off.

Identify the Home button, the volume controls, where the A/C power connects and the headphone jack.

What is your Apple ID? Do you know your password and is it recorded somewhere?

INTRO120 Introduction to Android

Power on the Android tablet and then properly shut it down so that it is completely off.

Identify the Home button, the back button, the volume controls, where the A/C power connects and the headphone jack.

What is your Google Account? Do you know your password and is it recorded somewhere?

APP100 Introduction to Applications

Using the appropriate store (App Store/Play Store/Microsoft Store) and account login information (ID and password), search for Google and download/install the free Google app. Then, download/install any of the Featured apps available that might be of interest. After installation, delete the app chosen from the Featured list and remove it from the device. Reinstall the app again if it's desired.

INT100 Introduction to the Internet

Open the Internet browser of choice. Using the address bar, visit www.etaonline.ca. Then, go back to the previous page.

If applicable, access the Wi-Fi settings on the device and connect to a network. Then, disconnect from the network.

INT110 Introduction to Google

Complete a Google search for a 1934 Packard (classic car) and research which American state they were first manufactured in. Then, change the Google search results to display Images and find a photograph of a red one.

If applicable, complete a Google search using the Voice Search feature for any topic you choose.